

Martin LaPage

Dear Colleagues,

I am honored to be nominated for the PACES Research VP position. I've practiced pediatric electrophysiology for just over a decade at the University of Michigan. During that time, I also completed a Master's degree in clinical research design and statistical analysis at the U of M School of Public Health, which I believe makes the research position one for which I am well suited to contribute successfully. I have been privileged to mentor trainees and allied professionals in their research efforts. I previously served on the PACES research committee, the guideline committee, and currently am on the QI committee. I will do my best to continue our well-established research tradition; and work closely with the executive board to further advance our research agenda to best meet the needs of the membership.

Martin J. LaPage, MD MS FHRS CEPS CCDS
Pediatric Cardiac Electrophysiology
Associate Professor of Pediatrics
University of Michigan